

The Holy Name of Jesus

Last night, September 25, 2019, I had a very vivid dream.

I was in the city of Chicago, and found my way to a religious good store. The proprietors were very cordial to me because I am a priest.

After perusing their inventory, I had this urge to find the Litany of the Holy Name of Jesus. The owners let me use their computers, yet so many distractions and frustrations came up, that I could not find the litany. I was led all over the store with its many connected rooms and buildings, conversing with many people, distracted by so many conversations; yet all I wanted to do was find that litany.

When I awakened from my dream, the preoccupation with finding the litany of the Holy Name continued in the half awake/half sleep of the early hours before the dawn.

Falling back to sleep, the same dream and preoccupation continued.

Upon awakening, I found the litany on line, yet was frustrated in the copy/paste function of the word program.

Finally, I was able to do a work around to get it into a format for printing and for the website..

The litany is on the main page of the website and here in reflections as well so that it can be prayed every day in order that a love for Jesus overcome any adversity or distraction in personal life or the life of the Church.

He is everything, yet must be called upon continuously to keep Jesus at the forefront of thinking rather than the things of the world.

Jesus, Jesus, Jesus.
