

Fr. Perozich comments —

As I watch deranged expressions of unbridled rage and hate from Elizabeth Warren and others outside the Supreme Court, I am finishing Fr. Vincent Lambert's short book Exorcism.

James Martin and Jeannine Gramick frame their promotion of sodomy from a political right without sound reference to God's creation, to the Bible, or to the Tradition of the Church.

Bishops including Blase Cupich, Robert McElroy, John Stowe praise sodomy from an individualistic interpretation of conscience and rights, proposing a utopia on earth which never will exist.

My understanding of all the rage and hate is framed in seeing the work of demons who are trying to destroy God's creatures, those of us living on this earth, through perverting our sexuality and life, and those in the womb so that they cannot come to life to adore God here on earth.

The devil's tactics are Deception, Division, Diversion, and Discouragement leading to acedia, a lack of joy and hope in God, opening one to anything and everything.

Power in this world is an intoxicating force that Satan seems to be able to grant to human beings, along with prestige, pleasure, and possessions. Many have allegiance to Freemasonry to get his power and to work with others to live it in this world.

In Lambert's book, he speaks of one man under Satan's influence writing, "The power he felt from Satan was so addictive that he would never be able to let go of it."

Who has power and where in the church, in the government, in science, in universities, in NGO's, in finance, in entertainment? How did they acquire it? How do they wield it? What compromise did they have to make to get it?

All power needs to be submitted to Jesus so that it be used rightly. Power acquired by evil means will be power wielded in an evil way.

The devil will allow us to worship externally just as long as we continue to do his bidding at the same time. External attendance at Mass and the reception of Holy Communion are fruitless without ongoing interior conversion to Jesus. It is common and obvious in the lives of many prominent people. I'll leave the naming and discovery to you.

When I see someone engaging evil, I pray, "Lord, frustrate their evil designs, and convert their hearts as you convert mine."

The Lord has just frustrated Joseph Biden, Nancy Pelosi, Charles Schumer, Elizabeth Warren, and countless others who may claim externally to be devoted to Him, but whose actions show a power coming from the evil one in the killing of babies in the womb and at birth.

Lampert shows how to be free for Jesus from the book of Catholic Church's Rite of Exorcism: holy water, litanies of the saints in the Roman Canon, those to invoke God's mercy (Kyrie Eleison), Psalms, gospel, invocation of the Holy Spirit (petitions and epiclesis before the consecration), profession of faith (Creed), Lord's prayer, image of the Crucifix, prayers of supplication (intercessions). All this is done at Mass.

Those of us who engage this with fervor have God's protection from curses and possession, but not from ordinary temptation. As a matter of fact temptations may increase. Still the power of the lower angels like one's guardian angel (to whom I pray daily) is greater than that of the fallen angels of the higher orders including Lucifer himself.

Some with power are tempted so strongly to live out the addictive power of evil, that they worship externally without allowing the soul to be transformed into the mind of Christ.

More and more Americans do not worship God. They can be seen in the video below the article. Pray fervently for yourself, for them, for everyone to come to Jesus and to follow him.

TRANSCRIPT

Amidst the hyperbolic explosions of rage by the demonically controlled Left over the Supreme Court leak this week, not a few of them have made a connection, understood a connection, that many self-identifying conservatives refuse to. Abortion exists because of contraception.

They've never wanted to actually say that out loud over the past half century. In fact, they've declared the exact opposite, falsely claiming that the more contraception is available, the fewer abortions there will be. That seems logical on a superficial level but once you dig down one layer, the lie is exposed.

Widespread use of contraception creates a mindset that sex is solely for pleasure, and, when that mindset seizes hold, then the floodgates open. People come to view sex from a self-centered point of view. In short, it's all about my orgasm, consequences be damned. If and when the consequence is a baby, then the response from a selfish person is to just kill the child, and, frankly, for such a person, why wouldn't that be their conclusion? Makes perfect sense within the world of self-centeredness.

That world is created by the contraceptive mentality that says, "Sex is all about me, my orgasm, my pleasure." The late Fr. John Hardon once said:

"The reason we have such massive slaughter of innocents is because we have become a fornicating society, an adulterous society, a homosexual society and a contraceptive society. Unchaste people are selfish people. They will not stop at murder if an unborn child would be a burden to their indulgence and sexual pleasure."

The idea of having consequences and responsibilities attached to pleasure is anathema to the contraceptive crowd. But most so-called conservatives are part of the contraceptive crowd. Steven Crowder said that "there's an easier and cheaper way to not have kids instead of murdering babies — condoms." But he couldn't be more wrong.

This contraceptive mentality is why we see and have so much proliferation of sexual immorality — be it cohabitation, fornication, pornography, adultery and so forth.

This is the whole evil logic underlying gay sex and the twisted legal logic for gay marriage — also brought to us courtesy of the U.S. Supreme Court, seven years ago.

All of this current crisis of sexual immorality and its devastating consequences can be traced back to the acceptance of contraception during the sexual revolution and its enshrinement by the high court in its 1965 Griswold v. Connecticut ruling.

In that case, in a 7–2 vote, the court struck down anti-contraception laws across the country and created the so-called "right to privacy," the same right which would then go on to be used in Roe eight years later. The sexual passions were thus unbridled and set loose, given legal protection and promotion. Like demons swarming out of Pandora's box, there would be no controlling them.

Interestingly, however, the Left admits this connection readily now. During the Amy Coney Barrett nomination hearings, she was pressed by Democrat senators on her view of Griswold. All over social media, in the wake of the leak of the draft from the Supreme Court, Marxists are up in arms, declaring, "If Roe falls, your constitutional right to birth control will also be in jeopardy."

But the Marxists aren't just worried about their contraception — they're worried also about their gay sex as well, legalized by Obergefell in 2015. Wishful thinking there, sadly. No, that won't happen, because social and political conservatives embrace the contraceptive mentality — they just don't like the one consequence of it, child killing.

But, as far as most of the self-identifying conservatives are concerned, all the rest of it is fair game. Pornography, masturbation, hookup culture, divorce and remarriage, gay marriage, cohabitation — everything is on the table. But if you get pregnant, just please don't kill the baby, but everything else is fine.

That is the heart of the contraception mentality, and it's the compromise with the Devil that the so-called Right has made. And here comes the zinger. The reason why so many social conservatives have hopped in bed with the Devil is because they want to have consequence-free sex themselves. In other words, they support contraception.

But when you support the underlying cause of abortion, you can't turn around and then condemn abortion itself. The culture has become thoroughly corrupted by this compromise with evil by the Right.

It was the so-called Right that first accepted and embraced contraception most, especially Protestants (beginning with the Anglicans in 1930 at their Lambeth Conference in London). Within 30 years or so here in America, Catholic bishops, now beginning to drown in homosexuality within their own ranks, simply shut up in the face of the contraceptive juggernaut. They have remained that way ever since, even down to today.

So what have we learned from the Supreme Court leak? We learned that the Left understands the connection between abortion and contraception and gay marriage and so forth. The Right, on the other hand, as usual, is fine with compromise.

The following video from Church Militant's "The Evening News" shows the rage of those separated from Jesus and problems in the church in Germany, with some calls to return to the faith from Archbishop Samuel Aquila of Denver.
